

Privacy Policy – Arabicesentials

Arabicesentials respects your privacy and is committed to protecting your personal information.

Information We Collect: Name and email address during registration, payment information processed securely through third-party payment gateways, and usage data to improve our educational services.

How We Use Information: To provide access to courses, manage subscriptions, communicate updates, and improve the learning experience.

Data Protection: We apply appropriate security measures to protect user data. Arabicesentials does not sell or share personal information with third parties except when required by law or for payment processing.